Investors like Krakow

2014-02-04

The Telegraph published a list of world's 20 best places to invest in property; Krakow being one of them.

Here's how The Telegraph recommends Krakow to future investors:

It might seem a bit counter-intuitive to invest in Poland when so many Poles have moved in the opposite direction. But EU infrastructure funds are pouring into the country, and many multinational companies are investing there. Property in blue-chip cities such as Krakow, a fabulous destination in its own right, is starting to look like good value. This buoyant country is proof that, while certain overseas destinations remain evergreen, there is always room for punchy newcomers on the global property ladder.
