My Kraków Tourism Card

2026-10-12

Kraków Tourism Alliance (KTA), organisation established by the Municipality of Kraków, announces the launch of the My Kraków Tourist Card. This all-in-one solution is designed to make visiting the city easier and more enjoyable by combining access to attractions, public transport and discounts in one easy-to-use product.

The My Kraków Tourist Card responds to the growing needs of visitors to Kraków who value independence, convenience and saving time. The card offers free admission to many of Kraków's key tourist attractions, unlimited travel on public transport in Zones I, II and III, and a wide range of discounts at partner museums, restaurants, service providers and entertainment venues. A full list of partners is provided below.

The My Kraków Tourist Card is available in two formats: a physical card and a digital version via an app.

Your trip, your way

One of the key advantages of the My Kraków Tourist Card is its it is a living expression of our shared hospitality. Today, we are showing the world that we can tell the most beautiful story of Kraków together, with one strong and united voice." — Grzegorz Soszyński, President of the Management Board of Kraków Tourism Alliance

MUSEUMS INCLUDED IN THE CARD PACKAGE

Museum of Krakow:

- Krzysztofory Palace

One of Kraków's most impressive historic urban residences. Over the centuries, the palace has been closely connected with many of the key events and developments in the history of Kraków and Poland.

- Rynek Underground

An underground exhibition revealing a section of medieval Kraków uncovered during archaeological excavations carried out between 2005 and 2010. It shows how the Main Market Square functioned as a centre of trade and crafts, with remains of historic buildings, the foundations of the Cloth Hall and numerous medieval artefacts discovered during the excavations.

- Town Hall Tower

Located in the heart of Kraków's Main Market Square, the tower offers panoramic views of the city from its third floor. On the way to the top, visitors can explore historic Gothic interiors, displays of architectural details and unique medieval stonemasons' marks.

- Barbican

A circular defensive structure dating from the late 15th century, the Barbican was once a key element of Kraków's city fortifications. It is an outstanding example of medieval military architecture, with distinctive towers and loopholes.

- City Defense Walls and St Florian's Gate

A surviving 200-metre section of Kraków's 14th-century fortifications, including the monumental St Florian's Gate and three historic towers: the Haberdashers' Tower, the Carpenters' Tower and the Joiners' Tower.

- Eagle Pharmacy

A historic site of remembrance in the former Kraków ghetto. The exhibition commemorates Tadeusz Pankiewicz and his female colleagues, presenting the tragedy and everyday life of the ghetto's inhabitants.

- Pomorska Street

The former Gestapo headquarters and a site of wartime persecution. This unique memorial museum preserves former prison cells and an air-raid shelter dating from the Second World War.

- Old Synagogue

The oldest surviving synagogue in Poland, dating from the 15th century, located in the heart of Kazimierz. Today, it houses a museum dedicated to the history, culture and traditions of Kraków's Jewish community.

- Museum of the Scouting Movement

Home to two exhibitions: Scouting Trails, exploring the history and ideals of Polish scouting, and Fort Jugowice, presenting the history of Kraków Fortress and the southern outskirts of the city.

- Podgórze Museum

Located in the historic Pod św. Benedyktem inn, the museum's main exhibition explores the history, industrial development, multicultural character and legends of the former Free City of

Magiczny
Kraków

Podgórze.

- Nowa Huta Underground

The State of Emergency exhibition is located in an authentic 1950s air-raid shelter. It reveals the secret Cold War history of Nowa Huta, conceived as an “ideal socialist city”.

- Rydlówka

A historic manor house in Bronowice Małe, famous as the setting for Lucjan Rydel’s wedding in 1900. The event inspired Stanisław Wyspiański to write his celebrated play The Wedding. Today, the house is home to the Young Poland Museum.

- Thesaurus Cracoviensis

A modern museum storage facility open to visitors. Through glass display cases, visitors can admire Kraków’s nativity scenes, military objects, coins and medals, textiles, furniture and other items from the museum’s collections.

National Museum in Kraków

- MNK Main Building

The Main Building houses several permanent galleries, including the Gallery of 20th- and 21st-Century Polish Art, the Gallery of Decorative Art and the Gallery of European Art.

- MNK Sukiennice

Originally a medieval trading hall built in the centre of the Main Market Square, the Sukiennice (Cloth Hall) dates back to the 13th century. The Gallery of 19th-Century Polish Art occupies the first floor. The building was restored and remodelled between 1877 and 1879, reopening its historic spaces to the people of Kraków.

- Arsenal

Located in a historic former city arsenal within Kraków’s medieval walls, this branch houses the National Museum’s collections of ancient art and military objects, including the Arms and Colours exhibition.

- MNK Czapscy

The palace houses a permanent exhibition devoted to the history of Polish coinage and medal-making, as well as displays of rare printed books and manuscripts. The complex also includes the Józef Czapski Pavilion—the world’s only biographical museum dedicated to the artist—and a historic garden with a lapidarium.

- MNK Matejko

Jan Matejko was born, lived and died in his family home on Floriańska Street. The collection of memorabilia associated with the artist includes historic objects from various periods and his drawings documenting historical sites and buildings.

- MNK Szołayscy

Located in a historic townhouse with a picturesque courtyard, just a short walk from the Main Market Square, this branch features two permanent exhibitions: OBJECTS: Gallery of Polish Design of the 20th and 21st Centuries and CROSS-SECTIONS: Gallery of Polish Architecture of the 20th and 21st Centuries.

- MNK Mehoffer

Housed in a historic townhouse on Krupnicza Street, where Józef Mehoffer, one of the leading artists of the Young Poland movement, once lived. The original furnishings, family memorabilia and works of art have been preserved inside. The charming garden, with its café, offers a peaceful green retreat in the city centre, especially during the summer.

- MNK Ciołek

Located in a Renaissance palace once owned by Bishop Erazm Ciołek, this branch presents medieval and early modern art, including paintings, sculpture and a collection of Orthodox Christian art.

- MNK Wyspiański

Dedicated to one of Poland's most important artists, Stanisław Wyspiański, the museum holds the world's largest collection of his works. Almost 200 pieces are displayed here, including numerous pastels that are particularly sensitive to light and environmental conditions.
